LEW WALLACE HIGH SCHOOL
415 WEST 45th AVENUE
GARY, INDIANA

Change is constant! In 1922 the Forty-Fifth Avenue School which was later renamed Lew Wallace High School in the year of 1925 was erected on its present site. The school expanded from one main building with portable extensions to the school facility that is in use today.

Lew Wallace was a great statesman, writer and Civil War General. He is perhaps best known for his famous book Ben Hur. Lew Wallace was granted permission to use the Wallace Family Crest. Wallace is the only high school in the country that is endowed with such an honor. The Crest which bears the coat of arms of the Wallace Family dates back to the eleventh century.

With such a rich beginning and healthy legacy, Lew Wallace High School has continuously established impressive records in academics, physical endeavors and leadership. With a basis of such brain and brawn, we welcome you to a pictorial and word history of the school that spans a period of 71 years.

The Class of 1993 has excelled in many endeavors thereby taking a rightful place as part of Lew Wallace High School history.

BEGINNING A NEW TRADITION

PROFILE OF A LEADER

MR. MARION R. WILLIAMS is ending his second year as the administrative head of the Lew Wallace Family. Under his leadership the Extended School Day and Electronic Attendance Procedures were improved.

New innovations such as Project Excel, an after school academic study improvement program for freshmen was begun in the 1992-93 school year. Lew Wallace is the pilot school of the Gary Community School Corporation for this special program.

An attractive Parent Resource Center manned entirely by Wallace parents opened in 1993, and the Center is busy with innovative activities Monday through Friday.

TO THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1993:

This is that special moment you have prepared for — the culmination of your high school career!

In the Fall of 1989 most of you enrolled at Lew Wallace High School, and you brought from your middle school years a strong sense of pride and enthusiasm. It was not very long before that tradition was translated into a new loyalty for Lew Wallace High School.

As you and I reflect over these four years, we can jointly agree that we have witnessed a great transition period. On the World Stage Our American Capitalistic Economic System replaced that of Communist USSR in the Soviet Union. We witnessed the decline of a Republican dominated national government with the election of President Bill Clinton. On the local level, we watched the Mayor of Gary, Thomas V. Barnes argue the merits of casino gambling as the economic savior for our city.

While there are struggles in government, you and I at Lew Wallace witnessed different kinds of struggles. Efforts were put forth to retain the grandeur of a proud urban school that faces periods of great transition. You have had four principals during your tenure. There have been forty-three changes in teaching assignments. The school board of our city changed from an appointed board to an elected one. Funding for education as well as job opportunities declined.

My message to you is: "There are some very challenging times before you. The world you will inherit is demanding greater insight and sundry skills are necessary to cope with the times."

To emphasize my final message to you, I wish to share with you a poem that with some revisions expresses my views of what you may expect from living:

*"The world can be a disgrace and a terrible place
So say the Prophets of Doom
With fear all around and no place to be found
It's a landscape of darkness and gloom.
There's hunger and doubt, and who cares about
All the suffering, trials and pain
As there seems not a place in the whole human race
Where a soul can be happy again."*

Fear not the Prophets of Doom. Prophets of Doom have and will always be present as new generations meet challenges. CLASS OF 1993, you will meet the future with strength and determination! ALL KEEPERS OF POSTERITY, CLASS OF '93 your challenges and successes will be used, respected and admired as they pass from your hands to the hands of others.

Sincerely,

Mr. Marson Williams

LEW WALLACE LEADERS

MR. RONNIE L.
HILLER

Mr. Hiller has worn many hats as an administrator at Lew Wallace. This is his third year as part of the LW Family. His former position was Dean of Students.

At the present time his responsibilities include handling student attendance, the sophomore class and the special education classes.

MR. PAUL R.
FREELAND

Mr. Freeland had experience at another Gary high school prior to becoming part of the Lew Wallace Family. He is completing his fifth year at Wallace as an administrator.

Included in the responsibilities that are handled on a daily basis by Mr. Freeland are handling the senior students and the special education program.

MRS. BARBARA B.
FLOURNOY

Mrs. Flournoy has spent her entire eight year administrative career as an assistant principal at LW High School.

A visit to her office reveals computers that are used for the scheduling of all classes.

Handling matters that pertain to eleventh graders are included in her duties.

DEAN CURTIS HOLT

Dean Curtis Holt is serving his second year as an administrator. He heads the Project Excel program, and he is grade level administrator for the 650 member Class of '96.

MRS. BETTY EICHELBERGER is Director of Student Activities. She works with sponsors setting up activities for the entire student body. She sponsors the school bookstore and is Chairperson of the Business Education Department.

OFFICERS CLASS OF 1993: Seated Portia Bowman, Secretary, Tonia Rodriguez, Treasurer; Standing: Victor Rodriguez, Vice President and Saba Mohammed, President.

CLASS OF 1993

"LOOK NOT WHERE WE STAND, BUT WHERE WE ARE HEADED!" The approximate 300 members of the Class of '93 will recall this slogan as their class motto effects their future years. They have a record of memories that are outstanding! The Class enjoyed enriching experiences of visits to the Ben Hur Museum, Crawfordsville, Indiana, McDonald's Burger University, Westmont, Illinois, Indiana State House and A.T.&T., Indianapolis, Indiana, and The World Affairs Conference, Portage, Indiana.

Locally the class members visited the Gary Airport, Gary Transportation Center, Gary Sanitation District and Gary City Court.

Successful shows supported by the student body included Jammin' With Juniors, a talent show, Senior Talent Show, Senior Explosion, a fashion show and the Senior Breakfast. Seniors were on the Lew Wallace Academic Super Bowl Team as members and alternates.

This active group of students under the sponsorship of Ms. Mariam Jiles, Mr. Kevin Higgins and Ms. Sherrie Gardner chose the white rose as their class flower and purple and turquoise as class colors.

LEARNING IGNITES THE SPIRIT

What does it mean to be a HORNET? There's a glowing pride on the countenance of all WALLACE HORNETS! It is a pride which is distinguishable, because it plays an important part in the Lew Wallace tradition. Being a HORNET means regular class attendance as that is important to learning and achieving.

A HORNET is proud to wear the Black and Gold school colors. In competitive play with local, state or national organizations, school colors are definitely an identity that is recognized by others.

From its earliest beginnings, Lew Wallace placed emphasis on being the best! Traditionally that drive continues as graduating classes are able to point to records of achievement that are or will become a reputable part of the school's history. Innovative additions over the years to spark learning are well known by HORNETS. On entering the school's hallowed halls the black and gold signs are visible. Such signs have created an awareness of what Wallace is about. The melting pot of Wallace's family includes variety and ideas.

SIGNS TO ENCOURAGE

THERE'S A STORY BEHIND EACH SIGN

THE FINAL FRONTIER: Stu-dents proficient in Math are Ellis Grace, Gailya Williams, Julie Trajakowski and Dantrel Robin-son. Valentine Kids are Marita Hood and Stephanie Howell.

The quietness of the Library with its vast resources convinces Erica Avant that it is a good place to work. The Reading Class of Mrs. Martha Williams is so inviting that Lakia Manley spends much extra time there.

Many outstanding visitors grace the halls of Lew Wallace High School. Johnny Henderson escorts Mrs. Ruth Battle, former Roosevelt H.S. English Instructor and Insurance Executive on retire-ment, and Vice President and President of the Indiana State Teachers Retirement Association to a special assembly featuring Senator Richard Lugar.

WE ARE THE LEW WALLACE FAMILY

Patterns and responsibilities are evident in our continuous learning processes. As one school day blends into another, it becomes obvious that our academic process is only part of the Lew Wallace agenda. These pictures show attractive bulletin boards, participation in activities, eagerness and sharing, and of course, role modeling.

Math, Science, English, Business Education, Home Economics, Reading, Art are some of our daily enrichments.

FOCUS ON THAT WHICH APPEALS

There are sparkles in a school day
No matter what the trend.
There's the familiar and the new
As each day begins and ends.
There's magic in creating
With both the mind and hand
Hornets find that such activity
Helps the minds to expand.

In the rush of each new dawning
An eagerness takes hold
And gives a lasting memory
More precious than blocks of gold.
We unmask our daily feelings
Within our halls of learning
And devote much time to that
Which in the end is so appealing!

PARENT RESOURCE CENTER A 1993 ADDITION

The Lew Wallace Parent Resource Center opened February 19, almost a month before the projected opening date. The Center is designed so parents can have an opportunity to actively participate in their children's education.

Opening hours for the Center are 8:30 to 4:30 Monday through Friday. Parents under the guidance of Mrs. Glensheler Johnson and Mrs. Doris Porter staff the Center in alternate work schedules. All work is on a volunteer basis.

Several hundred parents and Gary Community School, Inc., officials attended an Open House March 25, 1993. They became aware of the Center's motto: "Your child can't go wrong if parents are involved."

Much enthusiasm is shown for the Center which fulfills many needs. Parents, administrators, students, faculty-staff and visitors are constantly welcomed through the Center doors.

Mrs. Doris Porter, Mrs. Betty Hamlin, Mrs. Bonetta Billingsley and Mrs. Tucker along with other PTA members spent months preparing the LWPRC for opening and use.

This Center unlike that of other schools, is designed to involve parents in a realistic format that helps with both academic and physical endeavors.

As soon as the Center opened, parent volunteers signed up to serve. The list grows continuously.

MRS. GLENSHELER JOHNSON sits on the couch in the newly prepared Parent Resource Center. The wall quilt is on loan from an interested parent.

The second picture shows a parent signing the guest book at Open House.

THE OPENING OF THE LEW WALLACE PARENT RESOURCE CENTER WAS CONSIDERED A MAJOR SUCCESS. SEVERAL HUNDRED PARENTS, SCHOOL OFFICIALS, ADMINISTRATORS, FACULTY-STAFF MEMBERS AND STUDENTS ATTENDED THE OPEN HOUSE ACTIVITY. DR. JAMES HAWKINS SUPERINTENDENT OF THE GARY COMMUNITY SCHOOLS, INC., IS PICTURED TALKING WITH PARENTS AS THEY ENJOY REFRESHMENTS. COMPLIMENTS WERE GIVEN FOR THE EVIDENCES OF HARD WORK IN STAFFING, DECORATING AND PREPARING THE ROOM FOR THIS SPECIAL DATE.

VALEDICTORIAN

CLASS OF '93

TO ATTEND PURDUE

NACER THOMAS, Valedictorian of the Class of 1993 of Lew Wallace High School, came to the United States from his birthplace of Haiti as a tenth grade student. Nacer has relatives in Gary, Indiana, and the family was able to reside with them for a while.

"Before I moved to the United States, I lived on the Island of Haiti where I spoke French and Creole fluently.

"I attended St. Louis De Gonzagues School in Haiti. Although I studied English and Spanish, English was the most difficult of the two, because the rules seemed hard to understand. In the United States I was placed in a Special English Class to help me improve my speaking and writing skills.

"Because of my determination my skills have continuously improved, and I have received awards in Physics, Chemistry, Spanish and World Civilization. I feel exceptionally proud of these awards as they are part of the special efforts I put forth to achieve.

"Currently I rank number one in a class of two-hundred eighty-two students, and my sophomore and junior years were here at Lew Wallace.

"A strong desire to get a scholarship and attend a prestigious university served as motivation for improvement of my test scores.

"Enrollment in college-level courses was a great academic challenge. Last summer I earned an 'A' in Calculus at Indiana University. I was quite happy about this accomplishment.

"As a member of the Lew Wallace student body membership in the National Honor Society has afforded me unusual opportunities. This school year we inducted new members into the Society, sponsored fun raising projects and the Lew Wallace Academic Superbowl Team. I also helped to blow up the thousands of balloons that we sold as part of our Annual Valentine's Day Balloon Celebration.

"Like many others the mysteries of science have influenced me to pursue a career in the field of engineering. I look upon the work in this field as exacting. I plan to major in aerospace engineering or physics engineering.

"Since I like and appreciate learning so very, very much I do not plan to stop with only one degree in higher learning. After I earn a PhD, I hope to work for a Fortune 500 Company. Again, the challenge of rising up in the ranks will inspire me.

Nacer Thomas delivers class speech.

enjoyed the fellowship of the faculty and the student body. The encouragement that I received from teachers and others has been an humbling experience. I shall never forget the many kindnesses and the help as well as the enrichment of my high school career at Wallace.

"Without the support of God and my parents Mr. Roger and Mrs. Anne Thomas, I would not have the desired success in school nor the will to continue. They have certainly served as inspirations to me. I was admonished on many occasions to realize that hard work is and always will be the key to success in our competitive world."

NACER maintained a 4.1 grade average for his three years of study at Lew Wallace. He joins the ranks of others who have excelled in their studies as well as extracurricular activities as part of the Hornet Family.

"Since I am competitive by nature, I have a deep love for sports. I play basketball, however soccer is my first love. It is possible that that is part of my background.

"I've been captain of the Lew Wallace Hornets Soccer Team for two years. I am the second student from the Lew Wallace teams to make First-team All Conference in soccer. I have a two year varsity award, and I plan to continue playing soccer as part of my college activities.

"I respect Lew Wallace and its rich traditions. I have

JOHN ISLA CLASS SALUTATORIAN TO ATTEND WABASH COLLEGE

"I was born eighteen years ago in a small city known as Dagupan in the Philippines. My parents Exuperancio and Carmen Isla were very humble people.

"I was named after the Evangelist John Mark better known as Mark (taken from the book of Acts).

"As the third child of the family, I had to look up to my older brother and sister and sister and serve as a model to my younger sisters and brothers.

My parents are government employees, so we go where the jobs are. We moved from one place to another in a land that speaks eighty-seven native languages. I learned to speak and comprehend about three of them.

"I attended East Central Elementary School and later attended West Central Elementary School where I studied for two years. There are no middle schools in Dagupan.

"I was in the top fifteen percent of my class, and after passing the entrance exams, I was admitted to Dagupan City National High School.

"I worked on the school newspapers — Dagupan Sparks and Sinag. I served as associate editor of the Sparks.

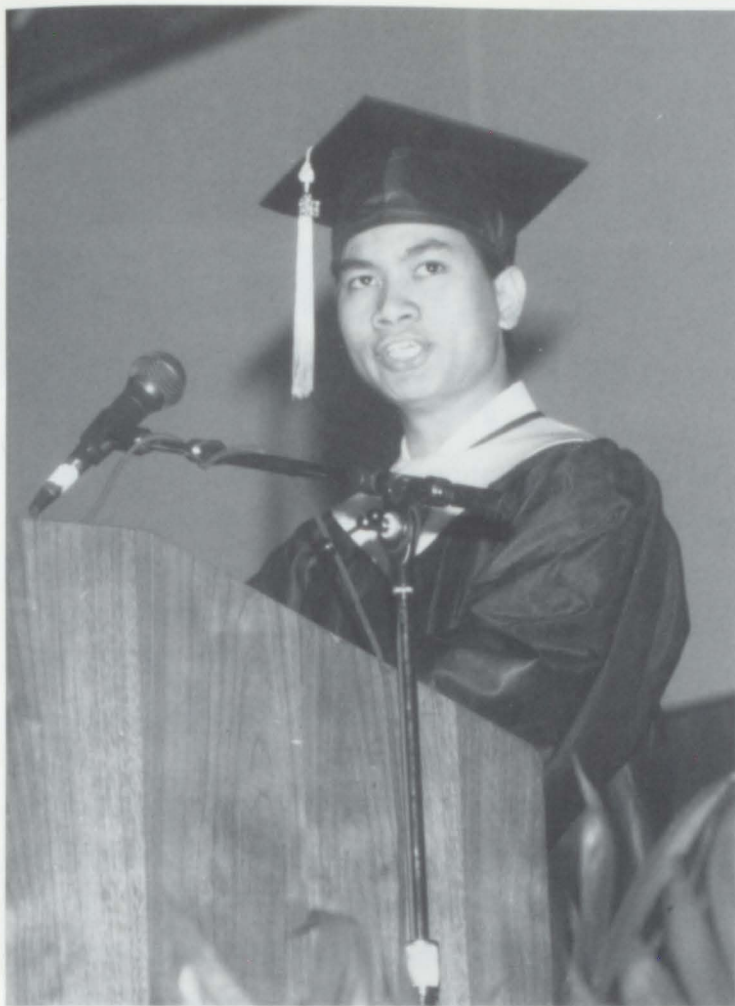

"I served as president of the Hi-Y Club and vice president of the Orators and Debaters Guild. I held offices in the Historical Society, Philippine Science Society where I was an outstanding member awardee for two consecutive years, English Club and the New Alliance Of Vigilant and Active Leaders, an organization I co-founded. It was one of the five political organizations of our school.

"I learned to associate with some of the best students in the class and ask my teachers for help. I graduated with many awards and recognitions.

"In June, 1990 I was accepted as one of the one-hundred-two Lyceum-Northwestern Scholars. As a physical therapy freshman I did well. Unfortunately after the first semester I had to stop my education to work on an important document in preparation for immigration to the United States.

"I learned to have little regret for this move as the rewards of moving to Gary and attending Lew Wallace High School have been tremendous. As part of the Hornet Family, I have reaped many benefits.

"My application to one of Indiana's universities was not accepted, because I had not had the SAT that is required for admission. I was given two options — stay out of school for another year and complete the requirements or complete the requirements by attending high school again. I chose the latter. It proved to be the right choice. I had difficulty catching up because I started in the middle of the year. The enrichment and help from others and the friendships I developed at Lew Wallace proved invaluable.

"I did not have extra time to join many school activities, but I am a member of the National Honor Society, and I have won awards in science, math analysis, computer application, service awards, citizenship and many others.

"Working at the Eagle Store as a produce clerk was perhaps a reason that kept me from participating in too many extra curricular activities. However, positive thinking and divine providence helped me survive pressures, and through concentration and hard work I became an almost 'A' student. My work enabled me to finish as number two in my class.

"I have enjoyed Lew Wallace, and I look forward to attending a reputable college or university where I will train to be a physical therapist or work in other medical related careers. The work here at Wallace gives me a tremendous and dependable background."

JOHN will attend Wabash College in Wabash, Indiana to obtain his first degree in higher education. The fine record he is sure to establish there will bring him other rewards enabling him to reach greater heights.

EARL SMITH TEACHER OF

secondary administration from Indiana University.

SMITH has an impressive sports record. In 1990, he was inducted into the Indiana Track and Cross Country Hall of Fame in Indianapolis, Indiana.

As a student at Roosevelt high school, he won consecutive state long jump championships, setting a record of 23'2½" in 1952 that stood for ten years. Smith ran on the state winning mile relay team in 1951 and was a member of the mile relay team that set a state record of 3:26.1 in 1952.

At Iowa University Coach Smith won indoor and outdoor Long Jump Big Ten Championships. In addition to those honors, he also won championships at the Drake and Kansas relays and placed fourth in the NCAA Meet in 1954.

SMITH was well known for his prowess on the football field in high school and college. He won all Big-Ten honors in football by setting a long standing record of eleven touch-downs in one season. He received all honors and mentions as part of his college career.

Coach Smith started his teaching career at Banneker Elementary School. His competitive spirit and love of sports enabled him to succeed in several Gary High Schools as a coach. He has an outstanding winning record at Lew Wallace where he presently serves as Head Coach. Smith is recognized by the members of his profession and others as the Dean of Coaches in Gary.

After careers as head coach at Froebel and Emerson High Schools, Smith became head basketball coach at Lew Wallace. Not only did his teams win four conference championships, two sectional titles, and two regional championships, one of the teams made a EARL SMITH was born in Gary, Indiana, one of five siblings born to Earl Smith Sr. and Bobbie Mae Smith. His parents are Garyites. His father graduated from Froebel High School and his mother graduated from Roosevelt High School.

The two schools have a long history of rivalry and love stories such as that of SMITH'S parents. Mr. Smith Sr. is deceased, however the mother and other family members remain a close knit family.

Fame runs in the Smith family as EARLINE SMITH ROGERS, the older member of the family is a Senator from Indiana. Other family members are Robert, Gerald and Denice Smith-Jackson.

Smith attended the Gary Public Schools, and graduated from Roosevelt High School. He was a member of Gary Roosevelt's first State Track Championship Team. This honor came in 1951 with a repeat in 1952.

After graduating from the University of Iowa with majors in English and Elementary Education, Smith returned to his hometown to teach. He later decided to secure advance degrees in physical education and semi-state appearance.

Many young men coached by Smith were selected as All Americans. The list includes Wallace Bryant, Frank Smith, Charles Hicks, Johnny Fort, and Jerome Harmon. A first round draft choice, Tellis Franks is currently playing basketball with the Miami Heat of NBA.

Smith has an interesting combination of hobbies. He jogs every morning regardless of the weather. He enjoys reading, collecting news articles, listening to jazz with the recordings of Miles Davis, Thlonius Monk and other artists among his favorites.

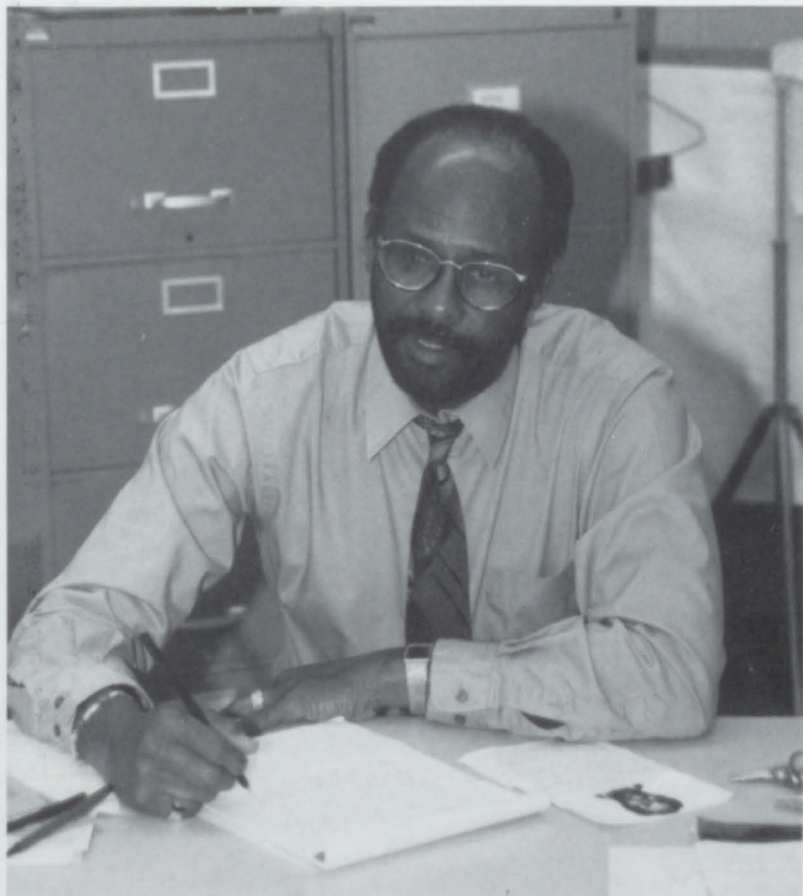

In keeping with his hobbies and other community interests Smith is a member of the Gary Jazz Club whose chief purpose is to keep jazz alive in the city. He holds membership in Kappa Alpha Psi Fraternity, and he and members of his family attend religious services regularly at St. Timothy Community Church.

Smith met his wife Roberta when she came to Gary on a recruiting trip. The romance resulted in marriage. The Smiths have two children Sherita, a graduate of Purdue University, and Earl III a student at Tennessee Tech University. Both of the Smith youngsters are Lew Wallace graduates. The Smiths have much in common as Mrs. Smith is a counselor at West Side High School.

When asked how he plans to spend his summers, SMITH smiled and after a short time of inner retrospect declared: "I plan to do nothing other than recuperating." That perhaps is the best tonic for a gentleman who is a hard, involved worker. That is perhaps the best tonic for a gentleman who puts in much more than the required time to accomplish the joys and headaches of his career. That is also the best tonic for a smiling, personable teacher who is loved by his students and co-workers.

The Lew Wallace Family salutes COACH EARL SMITH, JR as TEACHER OF THE YEAR. May such an outstanding honor propel him to greater accomplishments as he continues to inspire his students.

Torches of wisdom light paths and trails of those who hunger and thirst for knowledge. Thus the eager minds of the Class of '94 anxiously embrace that which leads to greatness without notoriety.

We are loving at a time when demands are being made for better health care. We exist at a time when answers are sought for improving the financial conditions of our fellowmen throughout the world.

If we are our brothers' keepers, then it is sure that some of these issues which confront our world will be solved by those from the tremendous ranks of the Class of 1994.

REQUIRED MOODS TO CONDUCT CLASS BUSINESS

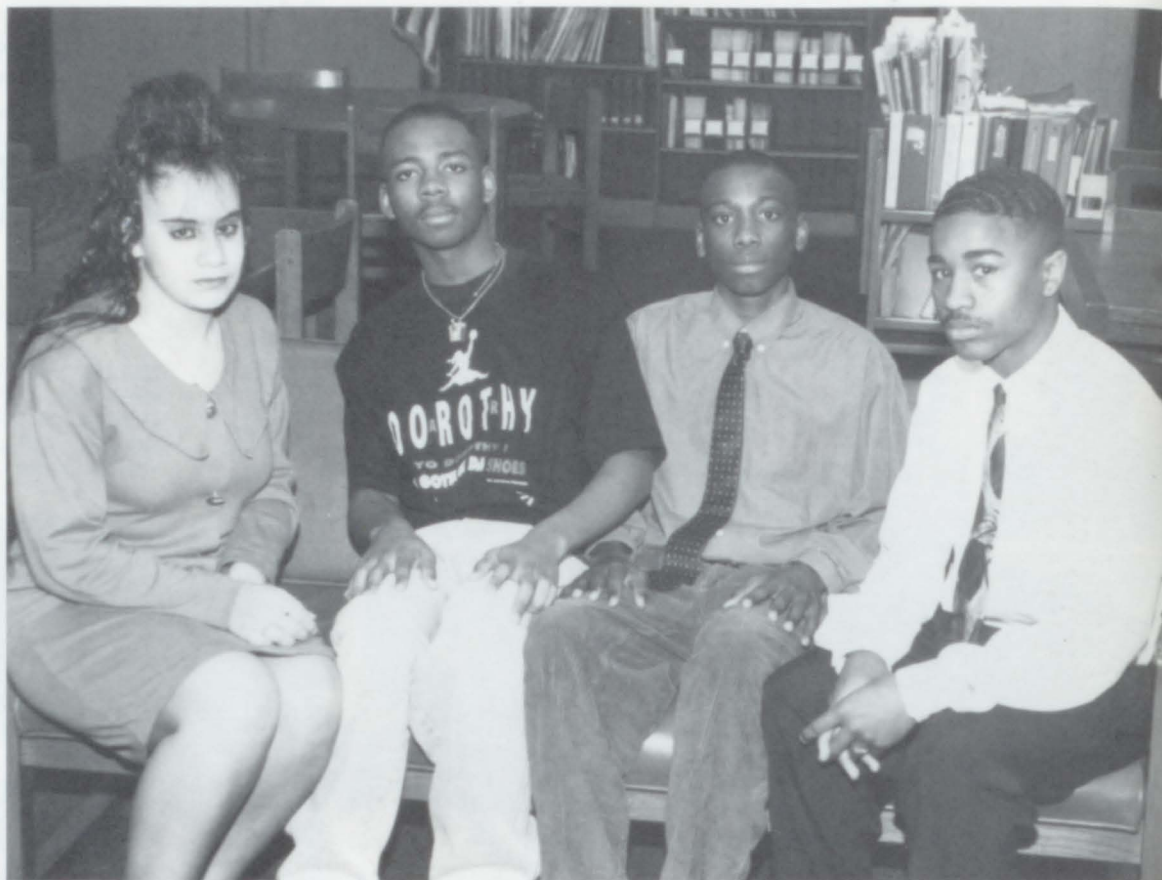

CLASS OF '95 HORNETS HORNETS

The size of the Class of '95 automatically increases the expectations these Hornets will contribute to society now and in the future. There are some important leaders in this group who will make an impact on the lives of many.

Can we say school life was improved by many of the members of the Class of '95? Of course we can! Class members realized that knowledge is the implement that will open many doors to fruitful living.

It is well to note that from its ranks class members will help solve problems that will be helpful to mankind.

CLASS OFFICERS: BREA GATES, President, LAKISHIA THOMAS, Vice President; MICOLE WINTERS, Treasurer; MISHAWN WINTERS, Secretary.

As newcomers and neophytes, the members of the Class of 1996 had much newness to get used to in their daily school life. In a building the size of Lew Wallace a freshman finds that he must find his way to the different parts of the building as well as the correct classrooms. Then there is the business of remembering all the teachers correct names as well as acclimating one's self to the classroom rules.

Choices must be made as there are many extra curricular activities that beckon students. Adjustments must be made to the activity calendar. It took some longer than others. However, by midyear, things became 'old hat.'

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is the governing body of the school. The four classes are represented by members of their respective grades. Their functions are numerous. One of the main objectives is to keep school spirit at a high level. A well planned calendar of events helps with this.

The all school parade which is the introduction to homecoming activities each year is well received by the students and community.

Accepting suggestions and bringing them to the attention of a body that can give or represent the opinions of many is a helpful tool in student government. The Lew Wallace Student Council keeps busy throughout the school year. In the popular basketball season homecoming kings and queens are elected with members of their courts. A Teacher Appreciation Day is important as students let their teachers know their work of steering them is indeed appreciated.

Another activity that goes over well with the Wallace Family is the Faculty-Student Basketball Game. One can imagine the attention this activity gets.

Of course the month of June is a spirited time as elections are conducted to see who the officers and representatives will be for the incoming school year. This is never business as usual for these are leadership plans which must be well put together and are well carried out.

The Student Council agenda must be an active one for it is a voice that speaks for the majority.

are pictured in Photo 1. They are Gailya Williams, treasurer, Melanie Jacobs, secretary, Ellis Grace, vice president, and Portia Bowman, president.

Honor Society members Danielle Austin, Leonard Lofton, Nakia Mable, Michelle Mabone, Sharee McCray, Derrell Robinson, Nacer Thomas, and Danyelle Jordan assisted the officers in hosting duties at the induction ceremonies.

Membership in the National Honor Society is not thrust upon one! It is a coveted honor which is earned! Students who have the determination to seek and earn a grade point average that reflects excellence in studies are rewarded with Society membership.

There are other determining factors for those seeking membership must also be of good character. Teachers have specific guidelines for voting on students who are to become members.

A number of outstanding activities are sponsored by the Honor Society. One of their main fund raisers is their annual Valentine's Day Balloon Sale. This gigantic project is generally a sell out.

Society members have taffy apple sells and sponsor sock-hops. The members are the backbone for students who participate in the Academic Superbowls that are sponsored by the GSC each year.

An impressive candlelight ceremony is held each year to induct new members into the Honor Society.

A TOP CITY WIDE EVENT

ACADEMIC SUPERBOWL TEAM

A COMPETITIVE ACTIVITY

A much awaited event in Gary is the Academic Superbowl in which all high schools of the city compete for honors and trophies.

Hornets spend much time preparing for this event. The '93 team consisted of Victor Rodriguez, Leonard Lofton, Aaron Jacobson, Nacer Thomas, Darrell Thomas and Ellis Grace.

It goes without saying that the team should be co-educational and Julie Trajowski, Carol Biddings, Sharon Scott, Gailya Williams, Estela Bustamante, Melanie Jacobs, Regina Gomez, Saba Mohammed and Tammy Jones were the female members who completed the team.

Enthusiastic spectators are on hand to cheer their teams to victory.

Lew Wallace did not place in the top three positions this year. However, the team members gained much knowledge which is sure to be helpful in their college careers.

They left an important message for the '94 participants who take part in the bowl competition — TRY HARDER!

Forget your index cards today? Need a pencil or pen or notebook paper? You need a notebook also? The Hornets' Nest opened several years ago with the idea of providing a service to Lew Wallace Hornets, and because it is such a needed service the shop is opened each school day prior to the beginning of the school day.

Booster items such as T-shirts, banners, buttons, sweet packages and other important items are available.

The shop is run by boosters assisted by shop manager, Mrs. Eichelberger.

MEETING NEEDS HORNETS' NEST

Talaya Johnson, Kenya Richardson, Nicole Montgomery, Jarvis Burks, and LaTonya Dickerson.

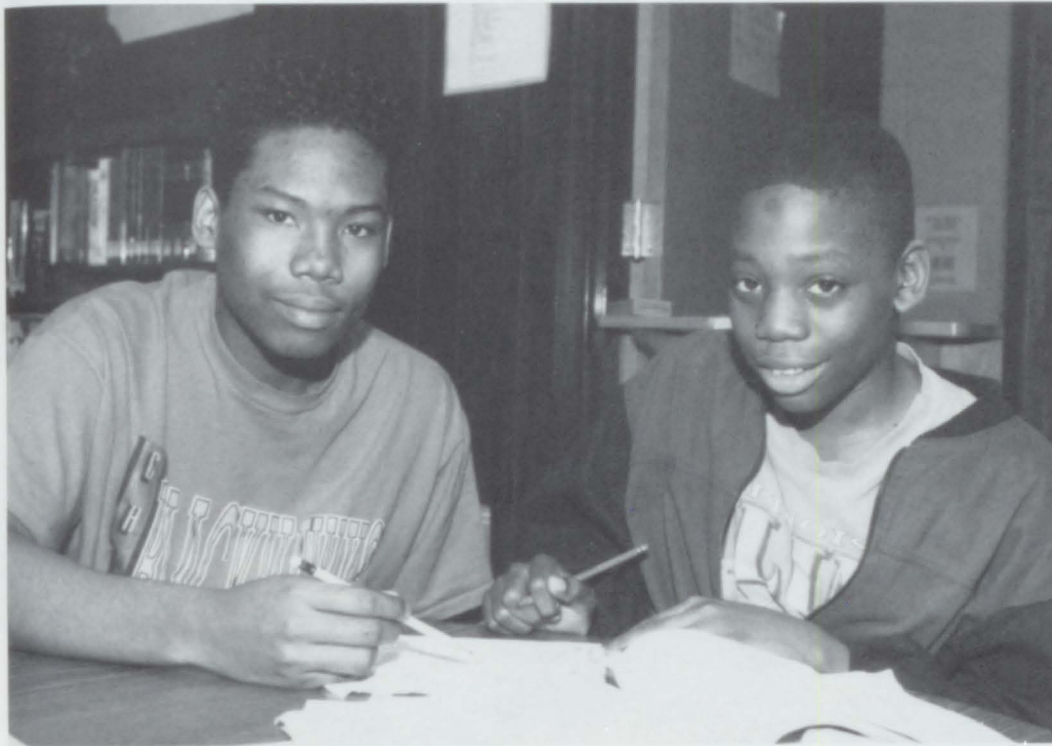

If you need help, it is definitely on the way as peer tutors are available to help fellow schoolmates with their studies.

Tutors are available each class period as some are assigned to classrooms and others work out of the Tutorial Lab.

Depending on the assistance needed, students can get one-on-one assistance or other help. All help, of course, is under the supervision of the classroom teacher of the subject.

BUSINESS PROFESSIONALS

THE BUSINESS PROFESSIONALS OF AMERICA are senior students enrolled in the Cooperative Office Education Class. The students attend school for half a day. They take academic courses in the morning and go to work in the afternoon to get on-the-job training in the work-a-day world.

Members of this unique experience include Earl Terry, Latonya Woodfaulk, Tammy Jones and Tiffany Swanson. Also included are Doris Flores, Nancy Cruz, and Bernadine Carter. Mrs. Luberta Jenkins sponsors the group.

OF AMERICA

Making a living for ourselves and perhaps another will probably be of great concern to all of us. The co-op experience gives us a chance to become acquainted with the business world and its operation. Participants learn the necessities for accomplishing financial goals as well as how to become expertise in other dealings.

One of the highlights of the program is the Recognition Banquet held in May of each year. This affair is sponsored by the students for employees to show their appreciation for the training and experience received.

Tammy Jones, president, Tiffany Swanson Vice President, Nancy Cruz, Secretary and Earl Terry are officers.

HORNET ARTISTS DISPLAY WINNING WORKS

ART CLUB MEMBERS: Kenneth Andrews, Yvette Grant, Kenah Montgomery, Mr. Hubbard, Troni Johnson and Ronald Jeffries.

Give me the beauty of the day as painted by the artist's brush to light the dark recesses of the night!

Visits to Mr. Hubbard's art room to view the work of Hornet artists are frequent. The unusual display of winning art work is well appreciated by the Lew Wallace Family. The Hornet artists use current, past and future subjects for paintings and drawings.

There are always campaigns of one sort or another. The beauty of art work is used to emphasize slogans and pledges. Entering contests on regular basis also bring out the best in our artists.

On entering the doors of Lew Wallace visitors are immediately aware of the art work that covers the walls of the school. Throughout the building there are works of art that are to be admired by all. Bright reminders in our school colors enhance and remind us of our school life.

And so the artist's brush composes and comprehends and brings to light that which cannot remain hidden.

A world of vibrant colors greets us each day from the time we arise until we declare our daily agendas completed! Someone has declared that our dreams are never in color. Can we prove that?

The art work at Lew Wallace and the world over take us into a different world for a picture tells a vivid story, and colors do affect our moods.

CLOSE-UP SMALL BUT STINGING

Seven Hornets and their sponsor, Mrs. Kouvelas have a 'better than a thousand word picture' for they not only had a visit with PRESIDENT BILL and HILLARY CLINTON, but they have photographs to prove it!

All school year Close-Up members sold candy and sponsored sock-hops, so they could join others from across the country in an unforgettable trip to our nation's Capitol, Washington, D.C. Peter Visclosky, U. S. Representative from Indiana met with the Indiana group to welcome them and share information.

Included on the must see agenda were the

MEETING BILL AND HILLARY

Smithsonian Space and Age Museum, the Statue of General Lew Wallace, the governmental buildings of the Capitol area including the White House and the Washington Zoo.

A side trip to William & Mary College in Colonial Williamsburg and the Old Capitol gave an insight into early history.

The group of 226 students and 25 teachers had dinner at the Hard Rock Cafe and danced to the lively tunes of the Hard Rock Band. The production at the next door Ford Theatre of "Five Guys Named Moe" was thrilling as it required audience participation in the singing and dancing.

Before the visit ended the Hornets visited Arlington Cemetery where they saw the grave sites of John F. Kennedy, Thurgood Marshall, Audie Murphy, the Challenger Crew and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Participation in seminars with key Washington personalities, and an exchange of opinions and impressions in daily workshops gave the Hornets insights into social, political, international and economic issues.

For a few of the Close-Up Hornets the plane ride from Chicago's O'Hare Airport was a first. For all of them visiting the National Archives was a first. The week long trip was the sort of enrichment that bears repeating. There was so much to see that all of it could not be accomplished in a seven day stint.

Remarks from some of those who participated were: 'I have never been so thrilled in my life.' 'It was the most exciting time of my life.' And, of course, 'I hope I get to do this again someday.'

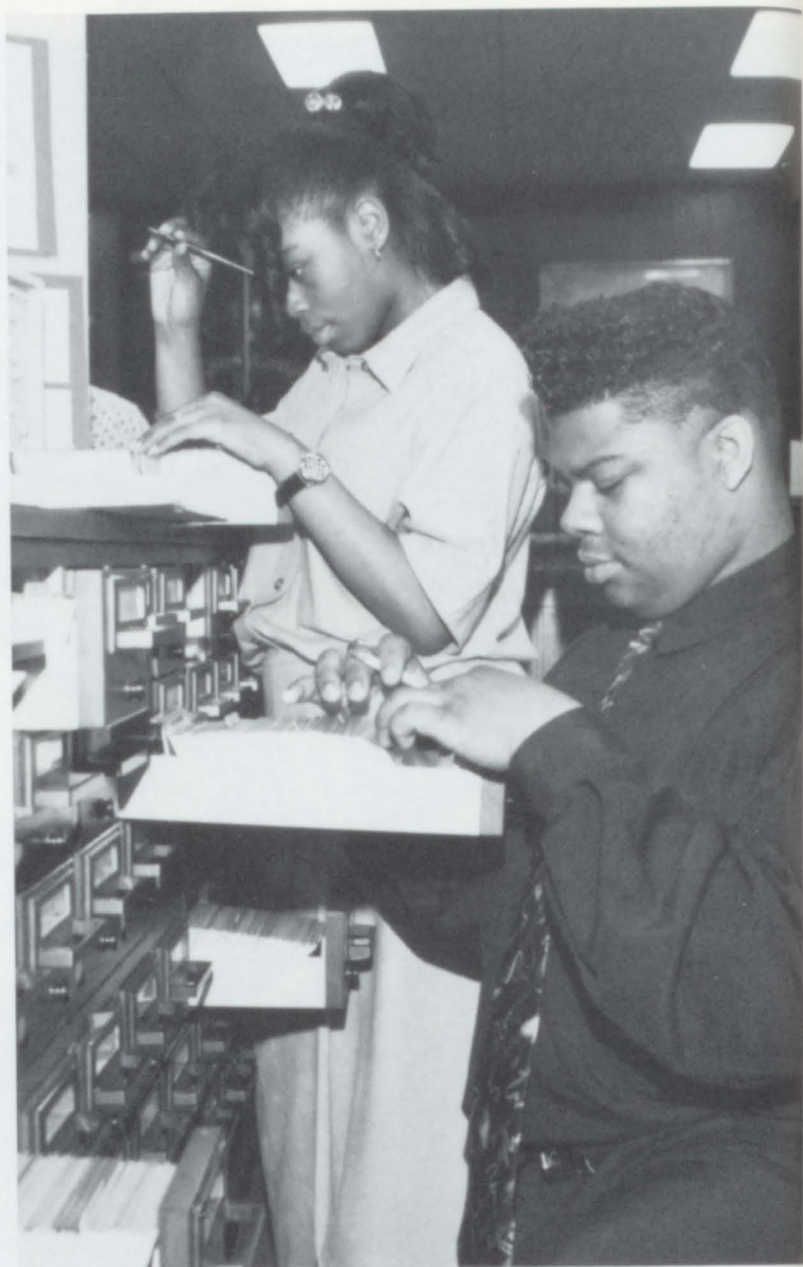

Can you imagine bending ears for the rest of your life with the news: 'I had a date with Bill and Hillary Clinton. It's true, and I have a picture to prove it!' This is enough to make your children and your grandchildren consider you believable.

PHILOSOPHER BEST SOURCE OF HORNET NEWS

Terrence Sams and Judith Scott using Materials Center files for research for Philosopher.

Keeping up with campus happenings is no distressful job for those students who make reading the school newspaper, The Philosopher, a habit. From the pages of this publication a wealth of knowledge that eliminates guessing is recorded in good taste. Sales of the paper are eagerly awaited by the student body and the staff.

Special features introduce the members of the Hornet Family who have made remarkable accomplishments. Recorded in the news also are actions of family members who are continually doing special things to establish Wallace as an institution to be further recognized.

As the news goes to press and is recorded as part of Wallace's history, every attempt is made to be objective and to follow the canons of good journalism.

Monthly editions of the Philosopher feature opinions, sports, coverage of special programs, current events, poetry, cartoons and ads. A dedicated staff that includes Krista Burleson as Editor-in-Chief, Jermaine Hughes, Managing Editor, Judith Scott, News Editor, Michelle Magallan, Features Editor, Chris Garnett, Sports Editor, Michelle Clay, Copy Editor, Andriel Wheatley, Advertising Manager, Bryant Hall, Cartoonist, Lakia Manley, Exchange Editor, and Anita Foster. Ashanti Garner, Richard Gomez, Denna Mark, and Terrance Sams as reports; and Y. Conwell, L. Hull, T. Jude, A. Paxton, R. Sankar, K. Scott and T. Tyler as club reporters puts in much more time than the required class meet.

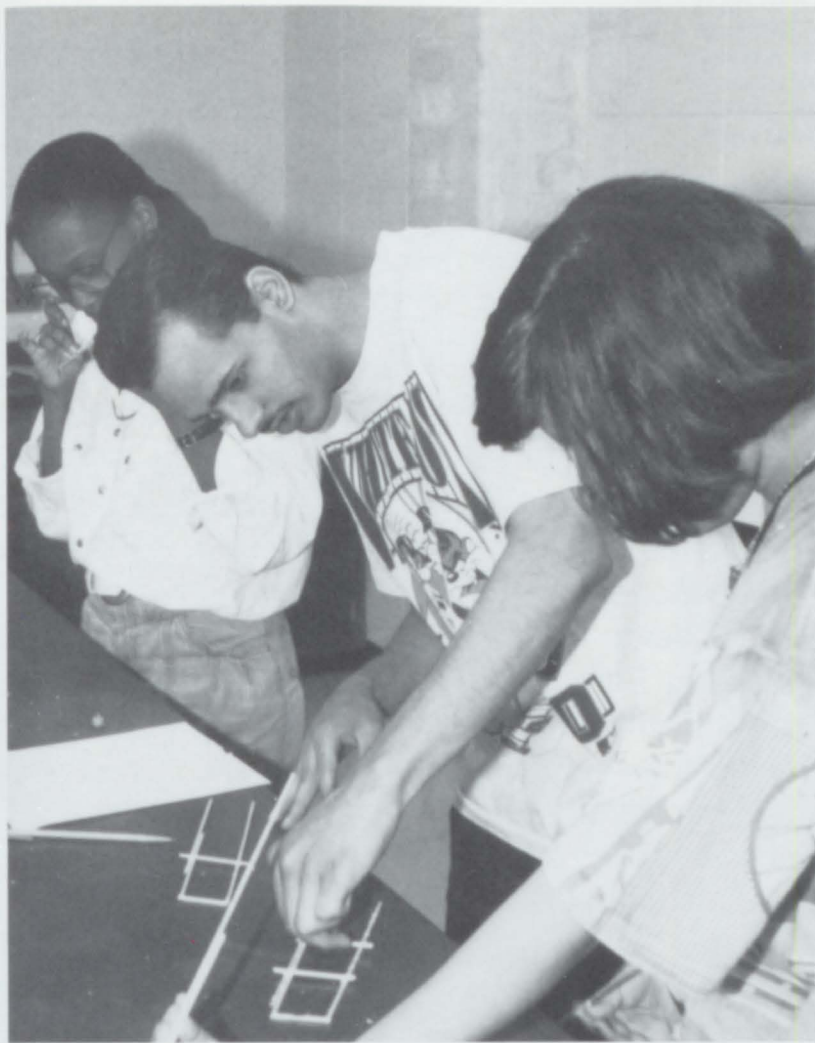

A special feature of the newspaper is the column that features students who are given a chance to voice some of the problems they consider important enough to be concerned about. They express frequent desires for solutions. It is possible also that the news in the Philosopher helps students make choices for participation in extra curricular activities. Certainly, it is hoped that academic achievement is strengthened through the encouragement that the Philosopher gives.

Of special note also is the fact that the paper carries photographs of Hornets and guests.

Probing and investigating are continuous activities in the science classroom. Keeping up with the changes that are part of our daily living as well as what can change our futures keeps our curiosity going full time. Students in Mr. Keller's classroom work in small groups helping each other as well as the rest of their classmates understand the mysteries of our scientific world.

Experiments are conducted and written up and discussed. Classroom work is associated with the scope of our larger internal and external world for the necessity of coping with our increased population, our environment, our need to feed the hungry and find improved health remedies lie heavy on the shoulders of future generations.

Since the spaces of the world are growing narrower, it is imperative that we find solutions to handle what is available in a manner that will benefit all.

FRENCH CLUB ACTIVITY

The French Club is an organization of students interested in the language or enrolled in French classes. Students plan and participate in activities designed to enrich their language study and cultural awareness of francophone areas of the world.

Students raise funds to defray the costs of attending French plays, restaurants, sending students abroad and communicating with French-speaking students in other countries.

The Mardi Gras where revellers are judged by the costumes and the mystery that surrounds them are also part of the calendar agenda of the club.

SET MEMBERS: Row 1: Yolanda Conwell, Pen-nie Grant, Stephanie Taylor, Staci Everett, Row 2: Tamara Pilar, Shanee Godley, Lamont Granger, Kondwani Pe-terson, Carol Davis, La-Treece Hemphill and Tennille Johnson.

Carrying the torch of wisdom is not an easy task. Igniting that torch is harder still. Members of SET have desires to be future educators. They have a program agenda which trains and helps them accomplish such.

Visits to other schools, helping youngsters in feeder schools to Wallace and exposure to speeches and related fields of activity to education are part of the yearly program.

Exhibits and other materials are gathered from various sources to help the SET group in the serious business of understanding how valuable education is, and what can be done to inspire others.

Tapping eagerness, guiding enthusiasm, letting others know that freedom does not enslave but rather improves are part of SET work.

'If I understand the printed word well enough to make others understand, I have indeed accomplished much.'

Operation Snowball is a peer support group of teens who are taught to use educational tools of learning to develop healthy relationships.

Members of this group take time to call attention to the harms and perils of substance abuse, alcohol abuse. Through the services of Alcoholics Anonymous, Cocaine Anonymous and Narcotics Anonymous, the group builds a student awareness among the student body of saying 'no' to that which is harmful.

Fashion trends have a profound effect on our toddler, infant, teen and adult world today.

Everyone wants to be in style and display that which is acceptable by their peers. And thus it is the Modeling Troupe of our Hornet Family that again and again is successful with its programs that draw great segments of the school population.

There are routines to learn and drama and creativity that play big parts in the world of fashion display. Fashion magazines that deal with clothes, hair styles and accessories are used and talked about.

The membership of the Modeling Troupe is one of the largest of the extra curricular groups.

HORNET DANCE TROUPE

What I like about you is you really know how to dance!

Mood changes are reflective in a provocative move of the head, a bare twist of the hip, a continuous snap of the fingers, pirouetting toes, back bends and exaggerated body movements.

The Hornet Dance Troupe is a popular and expressive group that brings people together.

The sports — basketball, football, baseball, golf, etc are proof of this. Watch babies. Their antics which are natural, rhythmic and free do much to prove this. Thus if you enjoy the dance or dancing is your 'thang', membership in the Hornet Dance Troupe beckons for you to become part of their exciting programs.

HORNET COLOR GUARDS

The Lew Wallace JROTC Rifle Team was City Champions for the '92 - '93 school year. The Color Guard participated in several competitions, they were part of the Homecoming Parades and all of the home basketball games.

The JROTC took part in various other school organization programs that were held in the school auditorium.

Community service participation was also part of the activity agenda that the JROTC had for the school year. Memorial Day Parade - Gary, Southlake Senior Citizen Care Center, the Bailey Middle School programs and the Gary Career Center proGRAMS were also part of the program agenda.

The Armed Team Won fourth place and the Unarmed Team won third place in the Drill Competition at West Side.

The JROTC Color Guard posted the colors at several major functions and several graduations throughout the city.

THE MANY FACES OF THE JROTC INCLUDE YVONDA

HOWARD, ANDRE LONGMEIR, BRYAN PHILIPS, TAMMIE RILEY, CRESTON BURKS, and WILLIAM AKINS some of the different drill stances that are part of the team drills.

These are the positions that are stressed as good training and discipline for those who want to enroll for service careers.

HORNET RIFLE TEAMS ARE CHAMPS

What are the advantages of participation in the JROTC? There are many for youngsters who seek goals that require discipline and money that their families may not have to finance their educations in institutions of higher learning.

The training that is received in the JROTC can help youngsters get into a reserve branch of the service. This can lead to many other advantages.

Loyalty Song
 Come on, Hornets, show your might
 Yes, team, fight, fight, fight!
 Send the ball across the goal line,
 We want a touchdown sure this time.
 U-Rah-Rah!!!
 Winning or losing we will stand by you,
 Our loyal spirits, boys, will see you through.
 To fight as did our team of old,
 Defend the Black and Gold.

Hail, Lew Wallace, we are true,
 Planch and loyal too,
 We will hold your mem'ry always,
 Making the best of all we do.
 To your ideals, forever we will hold,
 Follow the standard of the Black and Gold,
 So, hand in hand, our friendship true,
 We pledge our faith anew!!!

CHEER FOR THE BLACK AND GOLD!

*Hail to Lew Wallace,
Fight for her fame,
Keep her colors flying,
Glorify her name:
U-Rah-Rah!!!
We're loyal, Lew Wallace
To us you'll e'er be dear:
And to the colors of Black and Gold
Cheer Lew Wallace cheer!!!!*

SENSATIONAL SEASON

2-PEAT

Can Lew Wallace claim a few future olympic champs in their family? It is possible that such outstanding runners as Kimberly Shittu and Angela Hamblin who received great recognition on the state level will also become well known on the national and international level.

It is highly possible that we have a Flo Griffith-Joiner and a Jackie Joiner-Kersey in our midst. We salute and lay claim to the records Kimberly and Angela set as members of the Hornet Track Teams. For two seasons the track teams have been outstanding on the cinders.

With much talk about 3-Peat, we steal and turn the coin, and brag about our fast Hornet runners who made this season a winning one down state and became the State Champions of Indiana.

Kimberly placed first in the 400, and Angela was the recognized winner in the 200 meter dash.

HORNET GOLF TEAM

The tremendous variety in sports today gives those who are athletically inclined a tremendous choice of participation.

Golf is often referred to as a gentlemen's sport. However coupled with the weather the rigors and the competitive nature of the game, it is one that takes a great deal of energy.

The Hornet Golf Team includes Tanasha Harris, La-Treece Hemphill, Tiffany King, Harlan Dawson, Doretha Moss and Coach Moss.

HORNET JUNIOR VARSITY BASKETBALL

The Lew Wallace Quill and Blade was beset with many problems that started with the beginning of the present school year. Because of a very late start in the work that is required to complete a massive task such as a yearbook, we were unable to get some important sports activities in photographs.

Our sports activities are of utmost importance to the Hornet Family. Regretfully we were unable to get the important events connected with our football season.

A special thanks is given to Dean Curtis Holt who is a photographer of excellent means. It was Dean Holt who photographed many of the pictures that are used in this edition of the Quill and Blade.

Some of our teams had a most prosperous and effective season. Our Girls Hornet Track Team stayed in the limelight as they were winners again on the local and state level. They gave much meaning to the word and new coined phrase 2-Peat.

The Girls Junior Varsity Basketball Team is pictured above. Row 1 includes Mia Long, Pecola Nunn, Marisa Smith, Kisha Bowie, and

Our cheerleaders and Pom Pon Girls did an excellent job of cheering our teams.

And thus since we are still most competitive with the other high schools of our city as well as many of the state, we repeat with the liberty of a few small changes: "Our loyal spirits, boys and girls, will see you through. So fight as did our teams of old. DEFEND THE BLACK AND GOLD!"

SWEET SORROW

WE DID THROW A PARTY
FOR ALL THE WORLD TO SEE THAT THOUGH PARTING IS SWEET SORROW
IT TOO A JOY CAN BE.

THE SWITCHBOARD WILL LIVE ON
AS JANET SCOTT WENDS HER WAY TO A NEW LOUISIANA POSITION
AND NEW DUTIES TO CHALLENGE HER STAY.

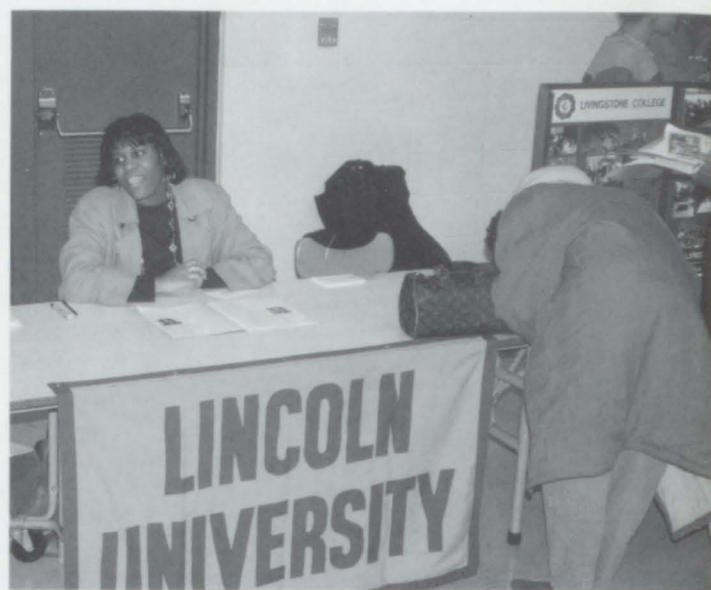

HOWEVER, THE HORNET FAMILY WILL NOT FOR-GET

HOW SHE BRIGHTENED EACH SCHOOL DAY
WITH PLEASANTNESS AND KINDNESS
IN A MOST UNIQUE WAY!

A MIND IS A TERRIBLE

COOL L L E G E

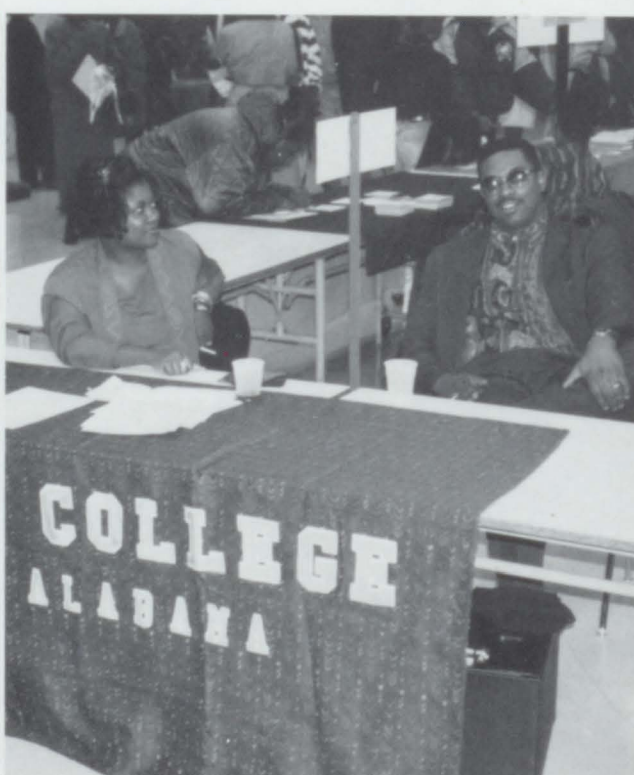

It's an exciting time for Lew Wallace seniors as well as prospective graduates of other Gary high schools. Recruiters are here in our City from colleges across the country. It is a time when students and their parents are made aware of the curriculum offerings and the campus faces of these institutions.

The set-up not only gives students a chance to ask questions of the representatives of the various schools, but some information is available on scholarships.

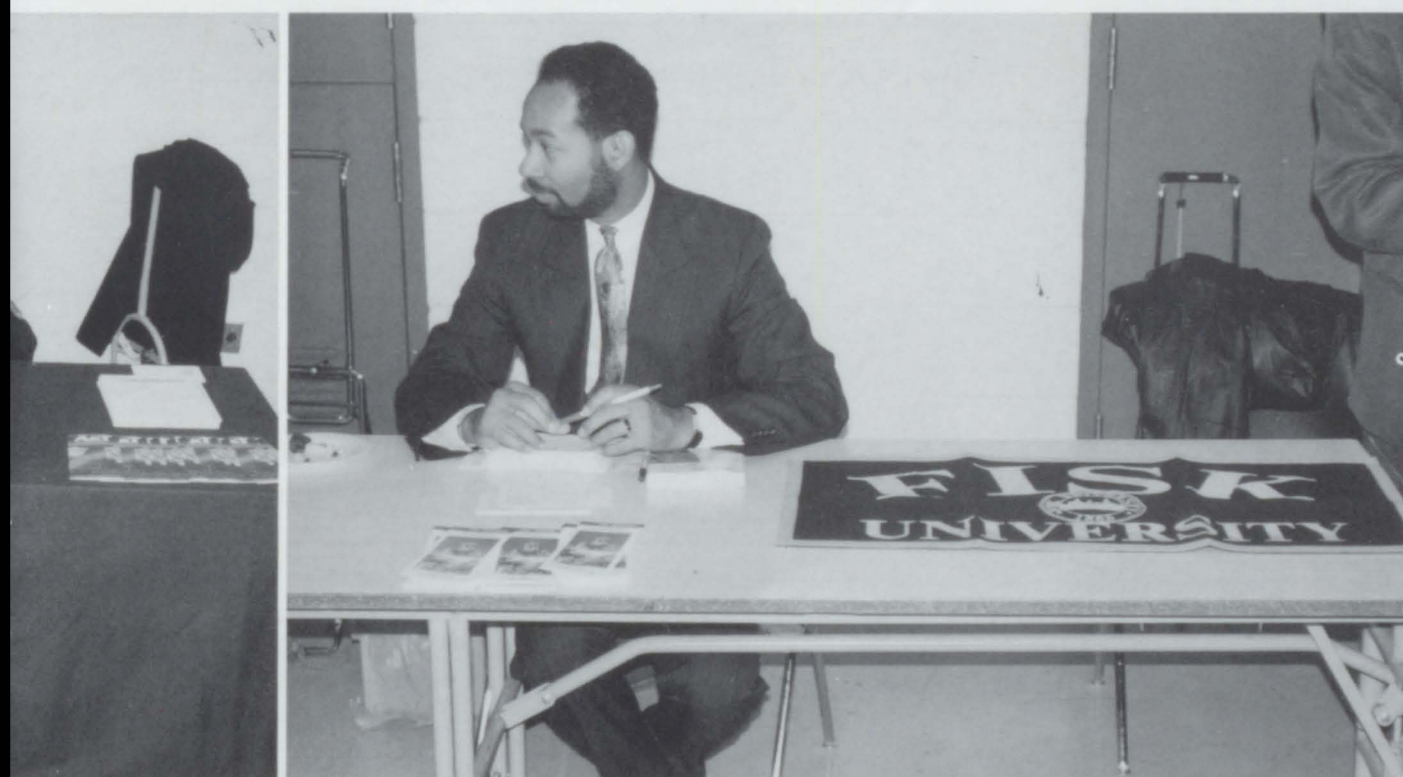

The College Fair presents many opportunities to those persons interested enough to attend. This year the Fair was held in the Gary Area Vocational and Career Center.

'93 FACES '93 FACES

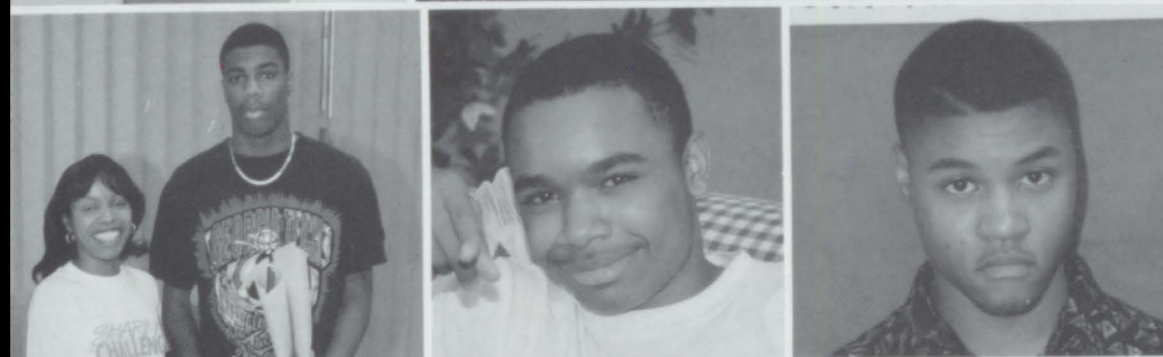

BECAUSE OF YOUR FACE

Whenever I see your face,
A happy smile
Surges through my heart
Making my eyes twinkle
And my nose wrinkle
For the gladness you bring
TO A SCHOOL DAY!

Whenever I see your face,
I think of sharing
And that makes my heart
sing

Because of the brightness
Your specialty adds
To those who surround you
DURING A SCHOOL DAY!

Whenever I see your face,
My mouth opens in expectancy
And the song I sing
Is one of beauty
Because your face
Has added meaning
TO MY SCHOOL DAY!

"IT'S HAMMER TIME"

DR. CHARLES O. ROSS, Associate Professor, College of Social Work, Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio, gave a Commencement speech to the almost 300 graduates of the 1993 Lew Wallace High School graduating class. In his address: "It's Hammer Time", DR. ROSS advised the graduates to take their lives in hand and proceed to make a significant mark in the world of today.

DR. ROSS stressed the fact that in today's living turmoil, there is need for originality and leadership as well as those who can effectively carry out plans.
